

On The Street: Sustainable Energy and Transportation Projects

DATE

Wednesday, April 13, 2011

TIME

5:00 pm Cocktails

6:00 Presentation

LOCATION

The Down Town Club
6th and Chestnut Streets

11th Floor
Philadelphia, PA

COST

$45.00 Regular Ticket

$35.00 Young Member/
Government/Military

Moderator:

Jeff Reigner, Vice President, Transportation Planner and Engineer, Whitman, Requardt and Associates, LLP

Speakers:

Joseph F. Hacker, PH.D., AICP, Manager DVRPC Office of Transit, Bicycle and Pedestrian Planning

Spencer Finch, Director of Sustainable Development Pennsylvania Environmental Council (PEC)

Steve Buckley, Deputy Commissioner City of Philadelphia Department of Streets - Transportation Division

Effective programs and policies can transform our cities by encouraging alternative transportation choices and fostering walkability and community. In this dynamic and informative session, discover what is happening at the national, regional, and local arenas in sustainable energy and transportation at the street level. Topics will include an examination of the benefits and impacts of "complete streets," and outline potential opportunities.

Our distinguished speakers from Pennsylvania Environmental Council (PEC), Delaware Valley Regional Planning Commission (DVRPC), Philadelphia Department of Streets and Whitman Requardt and Associates will focus on the type of projects that are on the horizon, what's being funded now, and the "how to" on moving forward. Find out how your firm can take advantage of innovative ways to serve as an expert in sustainability, and "walk the talk" of the green movement.

Reservations by Friday, April 8, 2011 at www.regonline.com/SAMESMPS

Sponsors: Simone Collins, Pennoni Associates